

The Flying Crow Series

The root of these four patterns is an overlooked block found in the quilt documentation books of Pennsylvania. Quilt historian Nancy Roan named this block “Flying Crow”. I discovered the “Flying Crow” block on page 20 of a wonderful book titled, Lest I Shall be Forgotten, by Nancy and Donald Roan.

There is a “Secret Sisterhood of the Flying Crow”! It is comprised of quilters who have made quilts with these blocks. There are code names, lots of stories and lots of laughs. It’s actually a therapy group, but the general public doesn’t need to know that piece of information.

After you make a Flying Crow quilt, email me a photo. We schedule an annual “gathering of the flock”. You might want to come and roost with us for a day.
